
HUSBAND OF CHURCH LEADER GRILLED IN DOUBLE MURDER CASE

WOMAN MARRIED MILLS

Authorities, to Learn Her Name, May Have to Question Every Member of Church

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 22 (By International News Service).—James Mills, husband of the church leader who was found dead near here along side the dead body of Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, wealthy rector of the fashionable Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John the Evangelist, was taken to the Somerset County Court-house today, where he was questioned at great length by Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Toolan.

The county authorities are particularly anxious to learn the name of the woman married to Mills at some time ago that the attachment between the pastor of the church and the beautiful blondy church leader, Mrs. Mills, had grown far past the stage of friendship.

Mills was sister of the church.

BALKED AT ARRESTS.

Although the double murder was revealed last Saturday morning, when the two bodies, both shot through the head, were found lying side by side in the dew-drenched grass under a crabapple tree upon the old Phillips farm, there have been no arrests.

The authorities were on the point of making one or more arrests, but at the last minute feared that they did not have sufficient evidence to hold the accused.

All theories are being run down, such as murder for jealousy; murder for vengeance; murder through blackmail; murder for family honor and murder for money.

It is believed in some quarters that the investigation has been balked by the reticence of members of the church congregation, who refuse for one reason or another to tell all they know of the relations existing between the rich clergyman and the handsome matron.

THEORY OF PANATIC.

One theory among the multifarious others is that the couple may have been slain by a religious fanatic who learned of their relations in some way. It would not surprise the supporters of this theory if the slayer turned out to be a woman—once and set herself as a "moral censor" of the congregation.

After he had been warned of the affair between his wife and the "clergyman," Mills was not arrested, visited the rector only to be assured that everything was all right and proper. Up to the present time Mills has refused to divulge the names of the woman who informed him, and this led to the threat of the county authorities today to question the whole 575 members of the congregation "to find the informer."

Safe Room Direction for Strangers in Boston

Some one has wisely said that the person who advertises in the person to be relied upon to be a person who pledges himself to the public.

Particularly in this time where those who have rooms for rent are so plentiful, it is a good idea to have a safe room in the house. The American is a recognized directory for good rooms and renders real service to both those who have rooms to rent and those who want them.

Grilled in Murder

"WILLIE" STEVENS.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 22.—"Willie" Stevens, brother-in-law of the slain Rev. Dr. Hall, who was grilled by the police, is considered an "eccentric" in his home town. His chief qualification for this belief is his unwilling attendance at parties. Whether by night or by day, "Willie" is always on his job when the fire bell rings, and he has been dubbed him "Willie, the Fire Fiend."

He is a brother of the dead minister's wife and he was quizzed at some length by prosecutor Stricker for possible knowledge that might shed some light on the mystery.

Several times since I have been in New Brunswick I have been told by local wisecracks that "this is a pretty wideopen town." Further inquiry as to just what was meant developed the fact that the information did not refer to honest alone, but to gambling in a small way—penny, gold diggers and a milder sort of the games of a big city. I do not say that I have observed it myself. I offer it merely as a starting point for a fascinating story.

It is not a question of the letters found scattered about the body of the slain rector, or of letters possibly found in the bare little study of the church, or of letters taken by the authorities after a search of the Mills apartment. That is, it is not a question of any particular letters, but of letters of this romantic character in general.

So far we have established the existence of an underworld, and the existence of romantic letters presumably to the rector from Mrs. Mills.

Next let us examine the scene of the crime, or, rather, the locality in which the bodies were found. This locality of Drury's lane, Leaning Lane and the Pavilion Circle seems to have a reputation that seems of an outlying section to be found not in New Brunswick alone, but in practically every city or town of whatever size.

BLACKMAIL POSSIBLE.

Now, it is not a flight of imagination to suppose that the denizens of this local underworld or den of iniquity might have observed the presence of the rector and Mrs. Mills at this vicinity at various times. Recall, for example, the statement of the taxi driver, Rick, given to the police, that he saw a man and a woman going about the rector and his wife. Rick said that he saw them in the vicinity of the rector's home.

It is only necessary to suppose that someone obtained some of these romantic letters, or of letters possibly found in the bare little study of the church, or of letters taken by the authorities after a search of the Mills apartment. That is, it is not a question of any particular letters, but of letters of this romantic character in general.

Every added fact and clue makes the Hall-Mills case a greater mystery.

As a mystery it is the more complex because there is not a fact that is not capable of at least two interpretations, not a prominent character in the drama that may not be woven into the texture of suspicion.

While the attention of nearly everyone is centered on the Hall-Mills family an alternative theory may be built up that is equally fascinating.

GETRID OF WIFE, SCHOOL GIRL TOOK HUSBAND

GETRID OF WIFE, SCHOOL GIRL TOOK HUSBAND.

Warren, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A romance that began with a married man aiding the high school girl with her lessons and culminated with the girl "stealing" her tutor from his wife was related in court today.

The "stealing" was a case of the "50,000" allegation of affection suit brought by Mrs. Marion Howard, a farmer's wife, against Miss Margaret Pierce, seventeen, heiress to a $400,000 estate.

HELPED WITH STUDIES.

Mrs. Howard told of her husband helping the girl's mother in business matters after death of her former father-in-law, a Cadillac banker. During the frequent visits to the Pierce home, she said, a close friendship budded between Howard and Miss Pierce.

In short, Mrs. Howard said, her husband spent a good deal of his time with the girl, helping her with her school work and frequently going out together. Once she said she saw her husband kissing the girl as she looked into the windows of the Pierce home.

Secret rendezvous late at night followed, with Howard sneaking out of his home after he made pretense of retiring for the night. Mrs. Howard charged.

"Have we, Pop?" I turned to ask Mr. Antonello R. Andrews, the boss of all the books.

GEN. DEWINS AND 5 REPUBLICANS DIE IN BATTLE

GEN. DEWINS AND 5 REPUBLICANS DIE IN BATTLE.

Belfast, Sept. 22.—Brigadier-General J. Dewins is reported to have been killed with five other Republicans in a fight near Sligo.

He was the Republican member of the Southern Parliament for East Mayo and Sligo and took a leading part in organizing the opposition to Arthur Griffith's meeting in Sligo last Easter Monday.

One of the dead Republicans had been identified as Brian MacNeil, second son of Professor John MacNeil, Minister of Education in the old Dail cabinet. Three of Professor MacNeil's sons were active members of the Irish Republican army before the truce, and the surviving two are officers in the Free State army, one holding the rank of brigadier.

Brigadier MacNeil was in charge of the Republican force recently captured at Sligo from the Free State. He was an undergraduate at the National University at twenty-three years of age.

Large salaries which have proved "profiteers" of scandal in the Irish movement will be abolished if the members of the House of Commons have their wish. Deny De Valera in Dublin Seeking Peace

The Dublin public opinion of the Republican party offices in Dublin declared today that the statement recently circulated to the effect that Eamon De Valera was in Dublin to negotiate with the Irish provisional government was fabrication.

The statement is borne out by information from Free State quarters.

STOLE LOVE AT $42,500

Warren, N. Y., Sept. 22.—A Supreme Court jury here has returned a verdict for $42,500 in favor of Mrs. James O. Howard and against Miss Margaret Pierce, heiress to a $400,000 estate in Castle, was alleged to have stolen the affections of Howard when he was superintendent of the Pierce home about four years ago. At that time she was sixteen years old and he was forty-four.

A motion for a new trial was made, the defense alleging that the verdict was an alienation suit.

Mrs. Howard sued for $42,500, alleging that her husband deserted her and three children after a three year marriage to Miss Pierce three years ago. The jury was unanimous on the first ballot in declaring that Miss Pierce had alienated Howard's affections.

Mrs. Pierce took the stand in an effort to disprove the claim that she lured Howard away from his family. The defense contended that Miss Pierce was an unscrupulous courtier who had used the money of a child of twelve who fell an easy victim to her.

At Church With Him at Every Time Accuser Claims She Met Him at Store

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 22.—A frail little wife, determined to remain faithful to her husband regardless of the flagrant charges of infidelity which have been preferred against him, volunteered to pay the full measure of womanly devotion when she took the witness stand to publish to the world her pledge of confidence in Harry Poulin.

It was reported that the Tiernan became reconciled. On the day that his wife told her story of clandestine love on the witness stand, Tiernan sent a huge bouquet of roses to her in the courtroom.

INSIST PROFESSOR IS FATHER

MRS. TIERNAN ON STAND IN COURTROOM

Woman in centre of South Bend court room is Mrs. Augusta Tiernan, wife of the Notre Dame professor, who accuses Harry Poulin of being the father of her child. Poulin's wife declared on the stand

And it was those last few days of confusion in the courtroom, it is said, that caused a resurrection of love. Both, according to reports, are to face the future together. Both are standing firm, fully determined to make Harry Poulin pay in full what they charge is his moral obligation.

PRESENTS ALIBI

With all the emphasis that her soft voice and slight frame could command, Mrs. Poulin denied that her husband had ever admitted to her that he was guilty of a secret amour with Mrs. Augusta Tiernan. She offered testimony that she and her husband with a blanket white alibi, refusing Mrs. Tiernan's story of clandestine love trysts with Mr. Poulin in his haberdashery store every Wednesday and Friday during the Lenten season of 1921. Mrs. Poulin is a blonde woman with watery blue eyes that peer tently out from behind thick leaved nose glasses. She is small in stature and mild of manner. She remained calm and composed, speaking in a low voice that was scarcely audible at times.

TRYSTS "IMPOSSIBLE"

Mrs. Poulin declared that she and her husband had attended services at their parish church together every Wednesday and Friday during the Lenten season last year, except one—and on that occasion he was suffering from a sick headache, and was obliged to remain home. This testimony directly refuted Mrs. Tiernan's testimony that on every one of those days between February 1 and March 27 she had secretly met with Mr. Poulin in his store.

Manifesting the same apathy that has characterized his attitude through the entire hearing, Poulin sat lounging listlessly in his chair, gazing indifferently about the room and chewing thoughtfully on a quid of gum.

CITE CALENDAR

It was a bold effort to impeach the testimony of Mrs. Tiernan that she and her husband had not stood together as man and wife during the early Spring of last year and to corroborate the basic claim of the defense that by careful comparison of the calendar, it can be established that the professor could have been the father of the boy born to his wife last November 28.

The subtle coup revolved about the narration of the conversation that took place when Mrs. Tiernan was alleged to have been a visitor at the Poulin home on Feb. 26, 1921.

"Who was present in your home on that occasion?" inquired Mr. Schwaartz.

"My sister, Mrs. Billy Benrich, Mrs. Tiernan and myself."

Q—Just where did the conversation take place?

A—in the kitchen.

MRS. TIERNAN GAPS

Q—Just what did you say to Mrs. Tiernan?

A—I said: "What's the matter, Gus? You seem so downhearted. You don't seem to have any pep."

Q—And what did she answer?

A—She said: "Oh, you don't know what I have to put up with. The professor compelled me to be with him in the parlor three times this afternoon."

Her thin lips bit off these words with emphatic abruptness. Mrs. Tiernan gasped—an expression of mental anguish on her face, then plunged her head in her hands and wept, shaking her head in ecstasy.

"My sister left the kitchen disheveled and went to an adjoining room. I told Mrs. Tiernan she should have spoken that way and she answered: 'I thought since we were all married women it was all right.'"

MAKES ANGRY DENIAL

When Mrs. Tiernan had been questioned about this incident, when recalled to the stand by the defense to lay the foundation for impeachment testimony, she glowered angrily at her interrogator, partly arose from her chair and barked out: "No, I did not."

The gallery, packed to the rafters with spectators, broke into a storm of applause that created an admission from Judge Chester Ducommun.

LEGION HEAD SAYS "WE HAVE JUST BEGUN TO FIGHT"

NEW PLANS ALREADY STARTED

Commander MacNider Promises Renewal of the Battle in Special Session of Congress

Washington, Sept. 22.—Refusing to accept yesterday's defeat of the bonus bill as final, Hanford MacNider, commander of the American Legion, issued this statement:

"Our fight for adjusted compensation has only begun. Those men now in Congress who, fighting for their honest convictions, carried out what those they represent would wish, can be assured that the service men and women—and we represent a whole generation—will not forget. Repudiation of those who have defended the nation is not for the good of any country.

"We are to prove that the people's will must be carried out, and we shall continue to fight to that objective."

NEW BILL IN SENATE

Senator Bursum has already introduced a new bonus bill in the Senate which provides for a bonus for soldiers similar to that given civil employees in Washington, and for reimbursement to soldiers who served for at least thirty days of money paid for war risk insurance and for payments to dependents.

The bill is entitled the "Veterans' Bonus and Adjusted Compensation Act," and like its predecessor, makes no provision for raising the revenue required to meet the obligations that will follow.

Senator Bursum estimates of the new bill, if enacted, would cost the taxpayer a total of $1,250,000.

The measure was referred to the Military Affairs Committee of the Senate.

SENATOR BURSUM'S PLAN.

The purpose of the Bursum bill is to place soldiers on the same basis as civilian employees in Washington, who were given a bonus of $20 a month, amounting to $240 a year.

Senator Bursum would subtract sixty days from the term of service for which the bonus would apply, on the ground that soldiers when discharged received a bonus covering this period. No soldier who had not served sixty days would be entitled to payment.

GIRL KILLED, BODY BURNED, IN FEUD

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 22.—Police today continued their investigation of the supposed murder of Rosie Serchia, twenty-six, whose half-burned body was found on a brush pile near North Kansas City yesterday. The torso was identified last night by Frank Monteleone, well-known proprietor.

That the murder is connected with a series of murders in the Restivo and Campesella families here was one of the theories upon which the police were working. Police said they had been informed that the girl was a member of one of these families, between which a feud has existed for several years.

The young woman had been killed by a bullet through the chest. A jug which bore evidence of having contained kerosene was found near the body.

After Monteleone identified the body, he fell on the floor, tearing his hair and muttering Italian. Later he told officers he believed he knew who killed the girl, but refused to say whom he suspected.

POLICEWOMAN HEADS N. Y. HONOR LIST

New York, Sept. 22.—The name of a woman heads the honor list of the New York police department, recently published by Police Commissioner E. M. Wright. The woman is Policewoman Rose Nicotelli.

She was one of the leading police figures in the recent Vauxhall kidnapping case and her work attracted much wide attention that the commissioner bestowed upon her.

Despite the nature of her work, Miss Nicotelli is of a quiet, retiring disposition, but she is rated as one of the most clever policewomen in the entire country.

Her record in the Vauxhall case was so brilliant that she was given the honor of being the first woman to be promoted to the rank of sergeant.

She was also one of the first women to be promoted to the rank of sergeant.

YEAR TERM FOR PUGILIST WHO BEAT WIFE

Frank Bradstreet, pugilist, was given a year's sentence in Charleston today for beating his wife when she returned to his home on the invitation to be reconciled to him.

After she escaped from him he shot himself through the temple in a second attempt at suicide, but recovered.

He was given an extra six months for carrying a loaded revolver. On appeal he was held in $1,500.

Police say he has fought under ring names of "Battling Shoe" and "Frank Bruff."

The pugilist's wife, Mrs. Edna M. Bradstreet, left him in the Summer and went to her mother's home in Cambridge. He chased her to the street and then went back upstairs and shot himself.

NOTED PASTOR, BLIND, TAKES UP WEAVING

Spencer, Wis., Sept. 22.—Rev. A. L. Spooner, Congregational pastor of this town and prominent preacher in his denomination, who suddenly became blind over study and has found it impracticable to continue preaching, has taken to be a weaver after some instruction in the Wisconsin School for the Blind, and is now making wash cloths of various sizes and designs and found a ready market for them in New England where he is well known.

Police say he has fought under ring names of "Battling Shoe" and "Frank Bruff."

The pugilist's wife, Mrs. Edna M. Bradstreet, left him in the Summer and went to her mother's home in Cambridge. He chased her to the street and then went back upstairs and shot himself.

Bryce J. Allans Entertain Guests With Movie Party, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.
A "MOVIE" party, followed by a late supper, was the novel way in which Mr. and Mrs. Bryce J. Allan recently entertained some hundred odd guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan (Anna Palmer) hired a Beverly theatre for the occasion, later on taking their guests to "Allanbank," their Summer place at Beverly Cove, for a midnight "snack."

Whenever one mentions the Allans one always thinks of the exclusive assemblies at which Boston's "four hundred" was wont to trip the light fantastic, for Mrs. Allan was one of the choice group who said thumbs up or down on the invitation list of the assemblies.

When the war came these dancing parties came to a stop, but ever since everyone who is really "in" has hoped that they may once more take place. Now that the Allans have returned to these shores after a long period spent in travels abroad, there is a possibility of society's wish being fulfilled.

OTHERS entertaining recently along the Shore are the Francis I. Amorys (Margaret Peria) of Beverly Farms and Boston street. These young people gave a dinner party at the Curtis Cottage at the Farms, where they have been spending the Summer, which was followed by a large dance and late supper at the Amory estate in Beverly Cove. The latter place has been occupied during the Summer months by the Paul Moores, who have just returned to their Winter home in New York.

It was only a year ago last January that Francis Amory, prominent Harvard '17 man, took as his bride the charming Washington girl, then Miss Margaret Peria. The ceremony took place just one day before the death of the groom's father, the late Francis I. Amory, and was solemnized in the rectory of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York.

The wedding was a very quiet one, with only a very few personal friends and relatives in attendance. Among the latter were the Count and Countess J. Henri de Sibour, an aunt and uncle of the bride. Young Mrs. Amory, who is a daughter of the late Clifford Percin of Washington, has also a very interesting life. She is one of the few Americans who have been present at the Court of St. James.

MR. and MRS. ALVIN SORTWELL (Ellen Polard) are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, born September 3. They have four small daughters, but this is their first son, so there is no end of rejoicing at the Sortwells' place in Beverly Farms, where the family are of the all-year-round colony.

AN enthusiastic hostess is Miss Lucy Carnegie, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Carnegie. She, who is to be one of the "dabbies" of the coming season. They morning finds this sport-loving young woman at the Myopia Hunt Club, which, of course, is the centre of sporting activities along the North Shore. Just at present, petite Mary Wald of Brookline is visiting her, and the two girls follow the housewife.

Late in October Mrs. Carnegie will introduce her daughter at a dance to be given at "Seawood," the Carnegie estate in Manchester. The older daughter, Miss Nancy Carnegie, who came out two winters ago, is also at "Seawood." Later in the Fall the Carnegies go to their Winter home at Cumberland Island, Georgia.

THE Payne Whitehys, who had the Dick Sears place at Prider's Crossing for a good portion of the Summer months, are planning to spend the Fall at their country home in Manhattan, Long Island.

INSTEAD of spending the Winter in Philadelphia, Mrs. S. Currier are coming to Boston for the cold months. However, they will remain late in November at "Aut-Lea House," their beautiful estate on the North Shore at Magnolia.

"Aut-Lea House" is quite a rendezvous along the Shore, especially for those devoted to music, for Mrs. Currier frequently entertains members of the colony with musicles. Such an affair was given just week, as one of the last social functions down Magnolia way, where the season ends so much earlier than a little further down the Shore.

MR. and MRS. TOM CANOT (Virginia Wellington) and their baby have gone down to the Shore from Weston to spend a month with Mr. Canot's parents, the Dudley Lowell Cabots, at Beverly Farms.

JAPANESE SONGBIRD TO TOUR THE U. S.
New York, Sept. 22.—Opera devotees in New York are now paying court to Mme. Tamaka Mura, the famed Japanese opera star, who has arrived here for a tour of America.

She is the only Japanese singer of note in her native land and her arrival in America is considered the opening of the path for many others.

BALLOONIST, HEADS DOWN, LANDS IN RIVER

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Hanging head down from a balloon in which he had been making mid-air acrobatics at a friend's carnival here, John Smith of Yonkers early today fell with the craft from a height of 1,600 feet into the Hudson River. He was rescued by three men who had watched the erratic course of the balloon's red guide light and who fought a strong river current for an hour in a rowboat to get to him.

80,000 RETURN TO WORK AT FORD PLANT
Detroit, Sept. 22.—Eighty thousand workers employed in the Henry Ford plants were summoned to return to work beginning at midnight last night. Ford's decision to re-open his plants followed the revocation of order No. 23 by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The recall of this order takes the automobile industry out of the non-essential class and thereby does not deprive the industry of priority in the movement of coal cars.

THROWS AWAY MONEY; FINDS ROBBER CLEWS

Springfield, Sept. 22.—William B. Soutel of Boston, foreman of a gang of wreckers, found $1,000 in the garage of Old Tudor Bridge.

Will examined his find and saw that there were unsigned bank notes, issued by Hampden National Bank of Westfield and Greylock National Bank of Adams.

"Bah, counterfeit," he exclaimed, and tying them into small bundles tossed them from his room to the street below, laughing heartily as finders scoured to cover.

Sudden signs of affluence about the corner intrigued Will. He investigated. The bills he had tossed at bay were real.

The bank notes, five, ten and twenties, were part of loot stolen from the registered mail between Washington and the Westfield and Adams banks more than a year ago.

The bills and a revolver, found by Soutel at the same time, are expected to prove highly valuable clues in tracing the robbers, local police believe.

BOIL WAR PROFITEER LEADS DAIRY OF DARING BURGLARS

WON BIG FORTUNE IN U.S.

Back in Paris, He Is Found Playing a Jekyll and Hyde Role

Paris, Sept. 22.—(By International News Service.)—In the arrest today of Baron Richard Reith the police claim to have revealed a modern "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" in real life.

The Baron, who is widely known in financial circles as a prominent banker, is charged with being head and brains of a band of daring burglars, motor thieves and post-office bandits.

The accused man had two sets of companions. He maintained a box at the opera, a private yacht, a country estate, a town house, was a member of the Academy, the wife moved in the highest circles of society.

In 1914 Baron Reith tried to enlist in the army, but was rejected. He went to the United States, where he dealt in war supplies, making a huge fortune.

With no much money at his command, the police are puzzled as to why he should turn burglar. The authorities claim that the Baron conducted his underworld affairs along the lines of "five business," organizing men of different activities into various branches, especially these departments were appointed and given authority to direct them under the supervision of the supreme head.

The police say there is a "safe-cracking department," a "motor-stealing department," a "post-office robbery department," a "motor-robbery department" and so on.

SEND RELIEF FUNDS TO AMERICAN EXPRESS

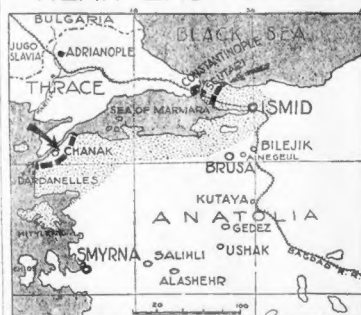

Athens, Sept. 22.—The newly organized American Express relief committee has asked the American Chamber of Commerce for the Levant in New York to make an appeal for public subscriptions, especially from Greeks residing in the United States.

Arrangements have been made with the American Express Company to receive donations in the United States and forward them to the committee in Athens for distribution. Many of the refugees now in Greece will be unable relief is forthcoming, says the committee.

LEAGUE FOR NATIONAL HOME FOR ARMENIANS

Geneva, Sept. 22.—(By Associated Press.)—The first action of the league of Nations today in connection with the Turkish invasion was the adoption of a unanimous resolution for peace with Turkey which provides a national home for Armenians.

FIGHTING GROUND IN NEAR EAST CRISIS

WHERE WAR FLAME SMOULDERS

Chank is the key position to the Dardanelles, and British lines have been established there. Turkish cavalry is reported concentrating nearby. The widest front has been established to protect Constantinople and the Bosphorus, and the British line extends from Serrai to the Sea of Marmara. This front is thirty miles long. Yesterday a conference between Mustafa Kemal Pasha and General Pella, the French High Commissioner, Kemal demands the forthcoming conference with the Allies be held at Mudania.

TURKS SEIZE TOWN ON THE DARDANELLES

Constantinople, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Turkish Nationalist forces have seized the town of Ezine, on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, and are threatening Kum Kaleh, an important key position on the southern side of the straits. The Kemalists were nowhere opposed.

The Nationalist move, in the opinion of naval experts here, will enable the Turks to prevent free ingress to the Dardanelles by the British Atlantic fleet units which are on the way from Malta.

The important positions involved were up to today occupied by the French and the Italians, and from them the heavy Turkish batteries can command the entrance to the straits.

Ezine, seized by the Turks, is a small town in the valley of the Menderes River, in the Cigra district south of the Dardanelles, and is less than twenty miles from Kum Kaleh. The latter town, which the Nationalists are threatening, is on the waterway line dominant at the entrance to the straits from the Aegean.

Both places are within the zone

FRANCE READY TO SERVE AS PEACEMAKER

Malta, Sept. 22.—British reinforcements sailed for the Dardanelles today.

Paris, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The French Cabinet today decided that in view of the refusal of the British to withdraw their forces from Chank, on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, the efforts of the French government should be directed toward preventing war between Turkey and Great Britain. To this end it was agreed immediately to send Franklin Bouillon to Smyrna.

There is considerable anxiety in the Cabinet over the possibility of fighting between the British and the Turks, and in pursuance of his desire to play the role of mediator in the Near East Premier Poincaré will exert all possible pressure to keep the Turks on the Asiatic side of the straits until the peace terms are fixed.

The latest reports received in official circles here indicate that Kemal is trying to keep his military leaders in check, but the difficulties of the problem are admittedly great.

British Labor for All-Nation Conference

London, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The British Labor Party today issued a statement in which it set forth in a cable message sent today to the Australian and New Zealand labor parties.

"British labor is opposed to any war in the Near East, and believes the only way of averting it is by reference of the dispute to the League of Nations, in which Turkey, Russia and Germany should be included."

Church Sells Chances for Smyrna Relief

Constantinople, Sept. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The supreme ecclesiastical council of the Greek Orthodox Church has directed the sale of all personal church property, including icons, chalices, vestments and silver oil lamps, the proceeds from which will be devoted to the relief of the victims of the Smyrna fire.

One Child Swallows Talcum Powder; Another a Ring

Worcester, Sept. 22.—It was children's day in the casualty wards of the County hospital today.

One youngster swallowed talcum powder and another a ring. Donald Fuller, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Fuller, 22 Palm street, who swallowed the powder, will recover. It was stated by Dr. Arthur Marsh, the family physician, that the father, who lives at 22 Palm street, was playing with found it in his way down his throat. Two hours' work resulted in the saving of the ring and the child's life.

HARDING SIGNS BILL FOR COAL INVESTIGATION

Washington, Sept. 22.—(By International News Service.)—President Harding today signed the Borah-Windom bill, providing for a Federal investigation of the coal industry and the Cummis-Windom bill providing for control of coal prices during the winter by the extension of the emergency and priority powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

WIFE IN AUTO; YEGGS TAKE HER

Chicago, Sept. 22.—(By Associated Press.)—The wife of a manager of a bond house, set locked up in her husband's car while he stopped away for a moment. Two robbers drove off with the car and the woman, where the woman declared the car was robbed of $200.

EXPECT JUDGE'S RAIL DECISION TOMORROW

Chicago, Sept. 22.—With the railroad world waiting for the decision he has promised by 11 a. m. tomorrow, Judge James H. Wilkerson, in the negotiation of his ruling on the government's strike injunction, was without any suggestion today from Attorney General Clegg for modification of the restraining order issued September 1.

The only features of the Attorney General's bill interpreted as in any way modifying the order now in effect lay in clauses, clarifying the phraseology of original passages and in the following provision:

"Nothing contained herein shall be construed to prohibit the use of force or money of any said labor organizations for any lawful purpose, and nothing contained in this order shall be construed to prohibit the expression of any opinion or action intended to aid or encourage the doing of any of the acts herein prohibited, or to be construed to maintain or prolong a conspiracy to restrain interstate commerce or the operation of the mails."

I find he makes his ruling, the restraining order issued September 1, and extended for a second ten-day period, remains in effect, Judge Wilkerson announced.

ACT TO SAVE LIFE IN RAILROAD WRECKS

Washington, Sept. 22.—(By Associated Press.)—To prevent loss of life in railroad wrecks, the Senate passed an appropriation authorizing the employment of thirty-five additional locomotive inspectors to enforce Federal safety laws in operation of trains. The appropriation, totaling $100,000, was passed by the Senate Committee on Commerce and Labor, and passed by unanimous consent.

CHEER UP! COAL SUPPLY STARTS FROM MINES

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Distribution of anthracite coal on a basis of 60 per cent. of 1921 deliveries began today after a conference yesterday of the Pennsylvania Fuel Commission, fuel administrators representing all the hard coal consuming States and Canada and representatives of the anthracite operators.

It is expected that the distribution of anthracite coal will be practically the same as last winter. A campaign to educate the public in the use of the backwater will be started at once.

Shipment of coal to lake ports, waterborne points in Maine and Canada has already started. The bulk of production for the present will go into territory that must get it early or not at all.

MOVIE NEWS A GOSSIP

By FREDERICK JOHNS

LAURETIA TAYLOR will have a notable supporting cast for the Metro screen version of "Peg O' My Heart," upon which actual production has been started at the Metro studios in Hollywood under the direction of King Vidor.

Lauretia Taylor will be seen in the role of Jim O'Connell. Lionel Belmore has been cast for Hawk.

The first scenes of "Peg O' My Heart" were filmed near Santa Anita, which is about thirty miles north of Los Angeles.

Miss Taylor's introduction to motion picture location work was a novel experience for her as she and her entire company resided in the mountain camp near the location.

WINGWORTH WALTZ PLEASURES BROADWAY is humming and whistling two new tunes. One is the "Marion Davies March" and the other "When Knightshood Was in Flower," waltzes composed by Victor Herbert and presented to the public for the first time when the Cosmopolitan picture, "When Knightshood Was in Flower," starring Miss Davies, opened its run at the Criterion Theatre.

The stately sweep of brocade and satin of plumed hats and glittering swords, as visualized by the stirring strains of the march, which seems to set forth all the courage and valor shown by military princes May Tudor in defying two kings in order to wed the man she loves.

"When Knightshood Was in Flower" has all the tuneful and delicately lifting quality always associated with Herbert compositions.

BETH CARR IN FILM A Carr family tradition to become a bright light in the land of the silver screen. She is little May Beth Carr, daughter of Mary Carr, whose success in "Over the Hill" and in "Silver Wings" brought her fame throughout the world as "The greatest mother of the screen."

May Beth's first screen experience was in the production of "Silver Wings," where she played the part of the daughter of Mrs. Anna Webb, which role was portrayed by her real mother. This is believed to be the first time that a mother and daughter in real life have played the same parts on the screen.

May Beth is very fond of working before the camera and has been begging her mother to permit her to take part in other productions in which Mrs. Carr will appear. Now that May Beth has made her debut in the silent drama, the other children have felt the fascination of screen acting and also have made their wants known in no uncertain terms, according to their mother.

A NAME A YARD LONG. TRUE hero of Peter B. Kyn's story, "The Bride of Palomar," now being filmed in California by Cosmopolitan Productions, bears the name of Don Miguel Jose Maria Federico Nayarita de Farrel, Forest Stanley, leading man with Marion Davies in "The Young Diana," and "When Knightshood Was in Flower" plays the part, with Marjorie Daw in the leading feminine role of Kay Parker.

NEW AUTHORS FOR SCREEN WILLIAM ANTHONY MOTTIER, author of "Cylinder Love," "It's a Boy," and other hit successes of the legitimate stage, has contracted with Jess Robbins, producer of the Vitaphone six-reel comedies, "Too Much Business" and "The Ladder Jinx," for the next comedy of the series. Another well known author of Broadway legitimate successes who will contribute to the Robbins' comedy feature is Arthur Goodrich, author of "So This is London."

SANDY BURR CLUB IN GOLF ASSOCIATION Interest has been increased in the new Sandy Burr Country Club at Wayland, by the announcement that the United States Golf Association has voted the club membership. The new club, just off the main Boston to Worcester road, has arranged an attractive program for its opening tournament next Saturday. During the day members of the club will compete for medal play over the temporary nine-hole course. In the afternoon Captain Burr W. Layton, former a British monarch, will give an exhibition of stunt flying. The day's festivities will terminate with a dance in the clubhouse in the eve.

RIVAL PARTIES MAKE BIDS TO 1923 VOTERS

Washington, Sept. 22.—With the American people waiting to pass judgment at the polls in November, the Republican leaders of the two major parties today issued statements on the legislative program for the seventh Congress. The rival statements follow:

By SENATOR NATHANIEL MCCORMICK, Chairman Republican Senatorial Committee.

The Republican Congress found business dead, agriculture prostrate and 5,000,000 out of work. It has written into the law the Kellogg Agricultural Credits Act, laws for control of the packing industry, laws for the grain trade, limitation of immigration and the McCormick-Good Budget Act. Under the budget act it has been possible to so drastically reduce outlay that the national debt was reduced to $1,600,000,000.

The annual amounts of taxation and expenditures have been slashed a like amount in the civil, military and naval services of the government. There has been a curtailment of 600,000 men, who have returned to productive industry. The President by agreement and not by rule, our naval competition has established the United States as the equal of the greatest naval power in the world.

By SENATOR F. M. SIMMONS, Democratic Finance Leader in the Senate.

The Republican party came into power proclaiming its superior constructive ability and efficiency in enacting salutary and remedial legislation. The tariff bill, which was passed, is a miserable makeshift, unscientific, unbalanced measure, violating every protective principle of the Republican party. It is so clearly a purely profiteering scheme of legislation that it would justify being known as the profiteers' and unjust compensation bill. It deals a murderous blow to our export trade. It will impose greater burdens of taxation and enormously increase the cost of living. Its treatment of World War veterans is shameful and is marked by evasion, hypocrisy and finally by betrayal.

Once Held Title

SEBASTIAN QUARTARONE

Former barber champion of New England who welcomes projected contest as chance to regain his laurels.

TOO DARK, BURNS PRAYER BOOKS

SEEKS TO STAGE COMEBACK AS BEST BARBER

Sebastian Quartarone, of No. 7 Jackson terrace, Lawrence, is glad of a chance to wrest the barber championship from the present title holder, William Cavasano of Boston.

In a letter to the Barber Editor, Quartarone says: "I welcome the coming barber contest to be held for the American's Christmas Basket Fund, for the reason that I have things to square up with Mr. W. Cavasano."

"The last time we met was when he defeated me at Convention Hall for the barber championship of New England in 1915. Up to that time I had the title from May 11, 1914, when I defeated twenty-five of the best barbers in this section. At that time I was only sixteen years of age."

"It is true that Mr. Cavasano was given first prize at the 1915 contest, but he was not entitled to it. Cavasano didn't win square. Even the audience didn't agree with the decision. He trimmed his customer's hair only a few days before the contest."

"Now if another contest is to be held I hope it will be a good opportunity selected to examine each customer's hair before the contest starts."

"I also accept Cavasano's side bet that I will win, as we use only soap and shave in the hair-cutting machines. If he agrees to this I will cover his $1,000 immediately. Please enter me in the contest. I am ready."

GIRL CRAZED BY LOVE IS SENT TO ASYLUM

Insane with love!

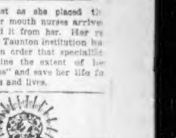

This is the pitiable plight of Grace E. Rand, twenty-two-year-old "love triangle" girl of Whitman, who has been removed to the Taunton Hospital for Insane.

And with her behind the walls that shelter the mentally unbalanced goes the story of a love-mad woman's maddest—the fury that caused her to swallow poison in an attempt to die after she had been spurned by her lover, M. Collins Higgins, a divorcee of Brockton.

Miss Rand sat in Higgins' automobile last Saturday afternoon watching her sweetheart play baseball in Foxborough Field, Brockton. Suddenly her love dreaming was rudely interrupted by the appearance of Marion Moore of Brockton.

With eyes of hate both girls maintained silence until the conclusion of the game. Then Higgins was called upon to make a decision not connected with baseball.

"Choose between us now!" demanded Miss Moore, his olive friend. He left the field with the Moore girl. Several hours later police found Grace Rand poisoned, her body lying under a convulsive spasm. She had taken veronal. After she had been restored by physicians, Miss Rand still expressed a wish to die. Left alone for a short time by nurses she again tried to poison herself.

GIRL'S MIND GONE 5 YEARS, SHOCK RESTORES HER

DAZZED BY EXPLOSION IN 1917

Young Woman Wanders From Perth Amboy Home; Friends Fail to Recognize Her

Perth Amboy, N. J., Sept. 22.—After nearly five years of absence from home, during which she says she was in a daze, Miss Elmore Stone, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone, of No. 309 East avenue, has been reunited with her family.

The girl's story relates how the shock of the explosion at Morgan, N. J., in 1917, unbalanced her mind and how a counter-shock received in New York recently restored her to reason and desire for her home and people.

Miss Stone was found walking along Smith street, Perth Amboy, by her brother, Everett Stone.

MISS STONE'S STORY.
The story of her disappearance and of her accident, that brought her to realization that she should return home were told by the girl as follows:

"I left home shortly after the Morgan explosion, having suffered greatly from shock. I remember going to Philadelphia and working for several days. I then went to New York city and secured employment in one of the large department stores. On numerous occasions friends of mine from Perth Amboy would come in and I often waited on them. On four different occasions as aunt of mine came to the store and conversed with me without recognizing me.

"After several years I was filled with a longing to see my parents and brothers and sisters. During the past six months I have come to Perth Amboy and put up at present hotel in the center of the city. Under the cover of night I went to my former home and watched my parents at work about the home, RESTORED BY SHOCK.

"It was last week that this feeling left me and, like my disappearance, a shock made me return. I was riding in a jitney bus in New York when it was in collision with another auto in running into an elevated station pillar. My head was badly bruised. Soon a strange desire came over me to return to my parents and here I am and so happy to be home once more."

Miss Stone is in perfect health, only her mind is blank concerning much of the period that she was away from home.

Her parents have practically become penniless in their search for her.

MISS J. L. BRODERICK

LAWRENCE GIRL DESCRIBES WAR IN IRELAND

Lawrence, Sept. 22.—Miss Josephine L. Broderick, No. 25 Charles street, has reached home here from Ireland with a thrilling story of experiences in Erin—stories of skirmishes and destruction by the irregulars, and a tale of dire want of food, clothing and shelter by the inhabitants of some parts of Ireland. Together with her aunt, Mrs. Daniel Lyons, No. 46 Tremont street, she saw Dublin in flames last July from Cathedral to O'Connell street, a distance of a mile; she saw the irregulars demolish every bridge over the Liffey river, which divides the County of Tipperary from County Kilkenny, and saw the wounded brought in on stretchers.

30-DAYS COAL SUPPLY LIMIT IN BAY STATE

Complete orders governing the distribution of coal in Massachusetts have been forwarded by James J. Whelan, Emergency Fuel Administrator, to 200 fuel administrators and 750 retail dealers in the State. Coal is to be sold only to regular customers, and any consumer who has no regular dealer is to apply to the Fuel Distributor for his fuel. No attractive coal is to be delivered to any person having a thirty-day supply on hand, and no more than thirty days' supply of anthracite shall be delivered to any one person.

GOODWIN WILL CASE SETTLED

Rochester, N. H., Sept. 22.—The dispute over the will of Edmund C. Goodwin of Rollinsford was settled by attorneys representing both sides just as the case was about to go to the jury.

Louis Goodwin, executor of the will of Edmund C. Goodwin, contended her father's will on the ground that when he executed it at the age of eighty-eight, just prior to his death in 1918, he was of unsound mind and was unduly influenced. Attorneys announced both daughters of Goodwin received a certain sum of money in the settlement.

Kellogg's Bran means so much to the health of every one who eats it!

Have you tried Kellogg's Bran today? You can't afford the cost of a day-for-Bran Kellogg's Bran, cooked and branched, is nature's own remedy for constipation. Eliminates constipation or its symptoms from your system and you add years to your life. Free yourself of these that can be directly traced to this distressing condition!

Authorities state that 95% of human illness has its beginning with constipation, which clogs the eliminative passages, backing up poisons and creating over conditions. At this stage the blood becomes affected and then follow the diseases of various organs. Bright's disease, diabetes, most cases of rheumatism, hardening of arteries, headache, brain fog, etc., are directly caused by intestinal poisoning. Piles and catarrhs can give no adequate relief. They are not only temporary in their effect, but tend to aggravate already dangerous conditions. Kellogg's Bran causes neither discomfort nor irritation, and its action is absolutely positive. Bran sweeps and cleanses and purifies the work is wonderful!

Physicians endorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation, because it relieves constipation naturally. Eat Bran regularly—at least two tablespoons daily, in chronic cases with each meal—a cereal, apricot, or other cereal, or any other appetizing meal with it. It is a natural food, pure, palatable, nourishing, etc. Kellogg's Bran is very low. All grocers sell Kellogg's Bran, and Kellogg's Bran is sold in every city.

Dr. Kellogg's Bran, eaten regularly, will clear up a pump's constipation and prevent an abdominal complaint.

Her Own Life

A Novel of a Modern Woman's Search for Freedom
Begins in October—Now on Newsstands

HER father was her only friend—he died when she was twelve. Her unsympathetic mother did her more harm than good. So, at sixteen Lilla Vance has found out for herself more than most married women know. Over many rough places, she works out her own life in her own way. For older girls—for some men, married and unmarried—for all mothers and fathers—a story to weigh most carefully—is Robert Herrick's new novel just starting.

The Vitamin Craze
Vitamins clamor from advertisements in reputable papers—bellow from subway advertisements—shriek from every sign on Broadway. Yet a bit of bread and milk, half an orange, carrots or tomatoes will give you all the vitamins you want. Read about this astounding fact in "Doctors and Drug-Mongers" by Paul H. De Kruif, Ph. D. late of the Rockefeller Institute now running in Hearst's International.

Robbing the U. S. Censor
It's a strange trick in the combination against liberal thought that forces a U. S. Senator to go to Ford's paid agents to see a U. S. Government official report about himself! See Norman Hapgood's "Inside Story of Henry Ford's Jew-Mania" in October Hearst's International.

The Man who didn't Play Fair
By WILLIAM MCHARG
It is easy for a husband to become involved with another woman. His wife's part is less easy. It is braver for a wronged wife to follow the traditions and destroy her home—or to fight her rights and refuse to allow an immoral girl to tear down what she has built up?

I Saw Him Crucified
By A. CONAN DOYLE
As told by the junior centurion on duty at Mt. Calvary. A new side to the creator of Sherlock Holmes. In his more serious mood, he writes of world famous historical episodes with the vivid interest found in his modern detective stories. And next month starts a new novel by H. G. Wells.

As digestible as it is delicious—You'll find Snyder-Made Sausage a "good foods" revelation.

FOR 25 years we have made fine sausages. Millions have eaten and liked them. All the time we knew that no pork sausage was very easily digested; yet we knew that clear pork fat was the most easily digested fat except butter fat, and one of the most palatable. How could we retain its goodness and its flavor as well as the easy digestibility that belongs to tender, minced pork?

We found the method by distilling the herbs, which, in their raw form, irritate the entire digestive tract. We now add the flavor only, in a more delicate form. The result is Snyder-Made Pork Sausage, in daintily packed round boxes, bearing our GOOD FOODS trade-mark and the meaningful words Snyder-Made.

"As digestible as it is delicious."

ONE ILL, OTHER CONGRESS TO HARDING 'GIRL' END SESSION TODAY IS MATRON

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—Miss Abigail Harding, sister of the President, had a dramatic experience today as she was the subject of a special session of the House of Representatives. The session was called by President Harding about November 15 in prospect.

Speeches on political and other subjects were expected to occupy the whole hours of the session while the House awaited the conference report on the deficiency appropriation bill passed by the Senate last week as the last important bill for the Republican leaders' program for passage before adjournment.

Opposition to the bill was expected to be reached on either of the two measures pending before the Senate, the anti-lynching bill, Republican leaders said, would prevent a vote being reached on either of the two measures pending before the Senate.

In order to sign the deficiency measure and other minor bills President Harding was expected to arrive the closing hour of the session.

Miss Abigail Harding.

EPISCOPALIANS' IZZY TURNS THE ADOPT 'POWER' LAUGH ON GAY OF HEALING' BARTENDER

Portland, Oct. 22.—The Episcopalians of Portland, Me., have adopted a new prayer book, which contains a chapter on the "power of healing." The new book, which is the latest edition of the Episcopal prayer book, was adopted at a convention held in Portland last week. The new book contains a chapter on the "power of healing," which is a departure from the traditional Episcopal prayer book. The new book is expected to be widely used by Episcopalians throughout the country.

Clothing News

of Unusual Interest

Not for years have these Kennedy stores presented a stock of Good Clothes so attractive in appearance, in quality and in price.

You've learned to depend upon us for quantities and qualities, varieties and values in excess of anything to be found elsewhere, but this season these advantages are more conspicuous than usual.

Here are fabrics of pre-war quality, tailoring better than ever before, values greater than you expected or can find anywhere else.

Kuppenheimer Fall Suits

You who have worn Kuppenheimer Clothes---here's improvement over what you doubtless thought was perfection.

You who have never worn Kuppenheimer Clothes---here's greater inducement than ever for you to do so.

Early buying enabled us to secure our entire fall and winter stock of Kuppenheimer Clothes previous to the price advances which went into effect along about the middle of last spring. So together with better-than-ever fabrics and tailoring, we also announce the lowest prices in years.

NEGRO BROODED OVER SHOOTING FOR DAYS BEFORE TRAGEDY

BOSTON PROVES ITS POSITION AS A STYLE
centre of the East! Every creation in wearing apparel to delight the heart of women was included in the colorful and smart fashion show and pageant which opened in the ball room of the Hotel Somerset. Here Miss Helen Nicholson of Boston, wearing an expensive evening gown of new design. The prettiest models in Boston are displaying the garments.

THIS AUTO
Makes the Kids Happy! The machine, a recent German invention, operates much like a "grown-up."

DRINK CRAZED NEGRO GLOATED OVER HIS VICTIMS AS THEY DROPPED BEFORE THE DEADLY FIRE OF HIS SHOT GUN!
The photo-diagram shows, chronologically, how William Morgan, discharged negro janitor, as 1 and killed Dr. Henry V. Reynolds, and perhaps fatally wounded Traffic Officer Aleck Johnson and Bartholomew J. Connolly, his employer, in front of the latter's apartment house at No. 1158 Beacon street, Brookline. None of the victims had a chance to defend themselves, the deadly aim of the negro mowing them down like wheat. Dr. Reynolds' body was hurled several feet by the impact of the shot, as he bent over the wounded policeman. Mathew Moreland (shown in circle at right top) caught the janitor after the shooting. The double-barrelled weapon is also shown. Inset at left top is Dr. Reynolds, the slain physician. Inset at bottom right is Patrolman Johnson, one of the wounded.

LOVE OF PET CAT MAY

cost woman life! Photo diagram shows how Abbie G. McGowan, No. 81 North Beacon street, Brighton, Kelly players went over to Harvard from veranda, fracturing skull, while trying to save imperilled kitten. She is at the hospital in a serious condition.

KICKING UP A FUSS!
There's just one way to keep in dancing form, say these two charming Boston dancers—play football. Cecil Hines, at top, and Boston O'Quinn of the "Nellie Kelly" players went over to Harvard from veranda, fracturing skull, while trying to save imperilled kitten. She is at the hospital in a serious condition.

GREEKS BITTER AT SEIZURE OF THEIR TROOPS

in Mudania by French! Mudania, on the Sea of Marmara, is within the neutral zone of the Dardanelles. Simultaneously with their warning to the Turkish Nationalists not to violate the neutrality along the Straits—England is concentrating a fleet at the mouth of the Dardanelles, as shown by the topographical map. Channel is rapidly ceasing to be a pivotal point.

HOW GARAGES WOULD CONSTITUTE FIRE MENACE IN NARROW LANES IN REAR OF COMMONWEALTH AVENUE....

STATE FIRE MARSHAL RIGHT IN HIS REFUSAL TO GRANT PERMITS FOR ERECTION OF GARAGES IN
Narrow Back Bay Yards! Two permits passed by the Boston city street commissioners have been overridden by the ever watchful George C. (son), fire marshal (shown in circle). The applicants were Frederick L. Blood of No. 124 Commonwealth avenue and Anna L. Johnson of No. 118 Commonwealth avenue. The outline in white shows what a serious fire menace a garage would constitute if built just off the narrow back street. There are five of these lanes running from Arlington street to Massachusetts avenue. Mr. Neal takes the stand that if one garage is erected it wouldn't be long before scores would be built.

HATED MEN FOR 16
Years! Embittered by her marriage 16 years ago, Mrs. Sarah A. Rooney admitted in court that life might hold some attraction if she was granted a divorce. She said her husband demanded that she support him.

BOSTON FOLK WITNESS SPLICING OF THE FAMOUS MIAMI-BARBADOS CABLE
at Miami Beach! After months of litigation and counter orders, the cable connecting the pleasure resort and the island was spliced. The photo shows the two heavy cables being joined by J. W. Atkins, at right, kneeling. Back row, left to right, J. C. Crosby, J. M. Brewer, T. J. Clark, George F. Mahoney, J. W. Pastorius and J. M. Armstrong. Front row, left to right, kneeling, W. Seckins and E. Watson.

THE French Academy was founded by Richelieu in 1635. It has a membership of forty, known as the "Forty Immortals." Severe criticism of the selection of members has been due to failure to elect well-known men of letters.

Veto of Soldiers' Bonus

War Profiteers Allowed to Keep Millions of Graft While Veterans Are Denied Pittance

So the President has vetoed the soldiers' bonus bill. While the men who sat in their easy chairs out of danger and in the fullness of luxury are allowed to keep the millions of graft which they made out of the war, their soldiers are denied their pittance!

So it is with our great government "of, for and by the people." Our young men were seized and marched off to hardship and danger amid cheers and smiles and promises that the sky would be the limit to anything they wanted. They came back to the richest country in the world, the country that suffered the least from the war, with feeble smiles and windy speeches that cost nothing, and they have been denied the little gratuity—the pitiful, miserable, little gratuity which the poorest countries in the world, long ago, without any fuss or feathers, have given their soldiers.

On the day that the President vetoed the soldiers' bonus bill he signed one of the worst tariff bills that was ever put on our Federal statute books. What he took away from the soldiers, a pitiful little part of their desert in the bonus by veto, he has added to their cost of living four or five times by signing Wall Street's tariff bill.

We have always had this kind of government since the Civil War, and we always shall have it until men and women learn to pay a little more attention to their public duties and pay less attention to their own and more attention to principles. What we want is a people who know what is best for them and then want public officials who will obey us when we tell them what, in our opinion, is best for us. We want to learn to know a good proposition when we see it and to distinguish between the good men who offer to enact the laws for us and the cunning traitors and equally dangerous demagogues.

Harvard's Action on Jews

Kemal Pasha, the great Turk, who has freed his country, had a Jewish mother. The greatest imperialist statesman since the elder Pitt was Disraeli, a Jew. The greatest military organizer that Russia has ever had is a Jew named Trotsky. One of the best of our strategists of the Civil War was a Jew named Rosecrans. The leading jurist of England is Rufus Isaacs, now called Lord Reading, the man whom England selected as the best qualified to save the greatest of her colonies to the empire, the colony whose oppression and robbery has been the foundation of her own greatness. The greatest financier of France was a Jew, Krantzlein and Prinstein, the world's two best athletes, were Jews. At the American bar the Jewish leadership is out of all proportion to their numbers. They have made money for themselves as well as money-getters than in the other directions in which civilization marches.

We do not believe that Harvard intends to put a slight on the Jews or to do anything that is unjust to the Jews, and if it does it will hurt Harvard and not the Jews. We have seen nothing yet to criticize. We ought to reserve our judgment concerning Harvard's action until Harvard acts.

Aid to Starving India

In Spite of New Bedford Overseers of Poor, Contributions From That City Will Go Direct

The friends of self-determination in India and those who are interested in relieving the suffering in India caused by the denial of self-determination there by the British government, are very much interested in the nature of the recent concession toward them by the Board of Overseers of the Poor of New Bedford.

It was New Bedford, we recall, which, having a large British population, first refused to allow the solicitation of funds on the streets of New Bedford for the starving people of India upon the ground that the British Consul in New York declared that there was no famine in India. This gentleman forgot that the British officials told the American people the same thing during the great and terrible famine in Ireland a decade before the Civil War, a famine which destroyed tens of thousands of Irish men, women and children, and scattered all over the world half of the Irish population. The American Tories with banking connections in England of that day believed or pretended to believe these assurances of these British representatives in America that there was no famine in Ireland for which American sympathy ought to go out with American money.

But real Americans, true hearted Americans, who believed in life and happiness and liberty everywhere, investigated these British assurances and learned how terribly false they were. America's great heart went out to the Irish and they found a welcome awaiting them at our shores, and whole fleets of ships bearing our grain helped to sustain life in Ireland until the famine was over. It was not then the Irish in America helping the Irish in Ireland. It was the grandchildren of the revolutionary Americans helping the Irish victims of the same powers which had oppressed their grandparents.

This Board of Overseers of the Poor now tells the Friends of Freedom for India that they will permit the people of New Bedford to aid India PROVIDED THE MONEY RAISED THERE shall be paid to a certain charitable fund in India in the control of NEW BEDFORD LEADER. He is a man of respectable character, it is true, just as the son of Benjamin Franklin, the Tory Governor of New Jersey, was a man of respectable character, though neither loyal Americans nor was his father worthy of anything to do with him.

It is needless to say that the Friends of Freedom for India rejected the proposal. But in rejecting it, they do not mean that this Board of Overseers of the Poor shall deny to the people of New Bedford the right to help the victims of oppression and tyranny obtain the right of self-determination for which the young men of New Bedford fought in the late war.

The friends of liberty and of humanity in New Bedford will have a chance to contribute to those who need their aid in India, the Board of Overseers of the Poor to the contrary notwithstanding. Then the money that they contribute will be placed in the hands of a local committee of New Bedford citizens of impeccable reputation and will be sent by them to the great Indian National Congress to be distributed by their Finance Committee.

The Ananias Family

Overrun by Women

By Dr. Charles Fleischer

EDUCATION is the one avenue to aristocracy in a democracy. Even intellectual aristocracy may beget aristocracy; but at least the attainment of a degree of education does help towards that flowering of the spirit which is the divine destiny of our human nature.

If you are sufficiently highbrow to have gone to college, you know the existence of that Greek letter fraternity that hides itself under the mystic title, Phi Beta Kappa.

This represents the supermen and superwomen of the intellectual aristocracy. As you can well imagine, from the fact that among the latest chosen senators of the United States, Phi Beta Kappa are such names as A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard; Ellen F. Pendleton, president of Wellesley; Talcott William of Columbia; Charles Evans Hughes, Secretary of State.

And yet— At the recent annual session one, only one, delegate cast up this despairing cry: "For God's sake, let's do something to get more men into the society. We are about to be overrun by the women."

And that from the highest of highbrows! Recall how recently it used to be an academic question, learnedly propounded by scientists and even discussed in high school debates: whether women had the intellectual capacity of men.

The whole story of human achievement has been produced in evidence that the brain power of women is inferior to that of men. And let the relative lack of feminine achievement be proof of this!

Poor poets, practically no philosophers, no original religious, only rarely a ruler, no significant inventors, and so forth and so on. It has been taken for granted by the male human who was God's first thought—the female being only an afterthought—that from rib to brain woman borrowed her dignity and meaning from men.

THE VOICE OF NEW ENGLAND

No Attention Paid to Anonymous Communications

"Terrible Turk" Editor Boston American: "The terrible Turk" threatens civilization. English promptly comes to the rescue. Canada, Australia and New Zealand have promised aid to the mother country. The family would be complete if the agitator Don Valera was out of the way. They intend to send him to the United States to see if he can get a passport. If Michael Collins was alive he would go under any condition, but fate is at times cruel. HAROLD HADLEY, Norwood.

Heartless Landlords Editor Boston American: I hope that Mrs. Daisy Brown by this time has found a shelter for herself and children if there is such a thing as a landlord to be found in Boston who has a heart. It is nothing unusual to hear and read of such cases where poor mothers and children with big families are treated in such a manner as the widow Brown. It seems more strange that in any big city like Boston a woman who has been left without a protector and husband and with so many dependents upon her would not receive more justice and leniency. If not by a heartless landlord it would be from those who are so well able to aid her in her present distress. It is nothing unusual to hear of heartless landlords. The raising of rents for those who are not able to pay them should be stopped. MRS. FLORENCE SPARKS, Norwich, Ct.

Splendid Tribute Editor Boston American: Through the columns of your newspaper I wish to express my gratitude to the voters of South Boston, Dorchester and Ward 12 of Roxbury for their support of me in the primary contest for congressional honors in the Twelfth District. Although unsuccessful, the voice of over 12,000 men and women residents of the district voiced a splendid tribute to my efforts in my efforts in their behalf as a member of the Legislature. SENATOR JOHN J. CAREY, Dorchester.

Before God there are neither men nor women, but only human beings. A democracy herein envisions the Deity, because ideally it makes no distinction of sex, but gives equality of opportunity—and especially educational opportunity—to all.

"About to be overrun by women"—there would be no harm in that, whether in the innermost circles of the educational machinery or in the uttermost commonplaces of life.

There has been made such a mess of things it might be well for him to become the struggle on all the lower planes of life and let the Deity lead the way to the heights.

"For God's sake," but for man's sake.

SEEN AND HEARD

TRAFFIC OFFICER SULLIVAN knows something more than lifting his hands to direct traffic at the corner of Washington and Summer streets. An automobile became caught directly in front of traffic. The chauffeur labored with it. It would not move. Sullivan looked on, over-acted some part, and then told the chauffeur to try again. He did, and it went, with the chauffeur smiling.

Police officers of Somerville are gradually adopting the style of their Boston brethren. First they replaced the awkward white, black helmets with great caps, and now the night traffic officers are wearing white braces, running crosswise, to make themselves visible in the dark.

Cross street, Somerville, once one of the main thoroughfares to the North Shore, is being widened eighteen inches on each side. It will then be about the same as the main thoroughfare of the city.

The Reverse Lodge of Elks has installed a new set of chairs in their clubhouse on Irving street, which are used for a different purpose than the chairs one finds about the city. At every night the chairs fall out every beautiful one, commencing the decorated branches of the order. A large master clock hangs in the main hall.

Police officers of Somerville are gradually adopting the style of their Boston brethren. First they replaced the awkward white, black helmets with great caps, and now the night traffic officers are wearing white braces, running crosswise, to make themselves visible in the dark.

Cross street, Somerville, once one of the main thoroughfares to the North Shore, is being widened eighteen inches on each side. It will then be about the same as the main thoroughfare of the city.

The Reverse Lodge of Elks has installed a new set of chairs in their clubhouse on Irving street, which are used for a different purpose than the chairs one finds about the city. At every night the chairs fall out every beautiful one, commencing the decorated branches of the order. A large master clock hangs in the main hall.

Sobbing Mademoiselle Awaits
Deportation After War Romanse Crashes to Earth

New York, Sept. 22.—"Because she saw nothing in America to admire, nagged me about my country, grew sarcastic about America and turned up her nose at everything in the United States. I was convinced it would be worse than folly for me to be married."

That was the explanation of Professor Durbin Howard of the Paul University, Greencastle, Ind., for his sudden abandonment of his romance with Miss Madeline Dullaire, beautiful French girl, after she had arrived here to become his wife. Miss Dullaire is on Ellis Island, awaiting deportation. She seemed the profier of an appeal for her admittance to the country.

"No, I have no desire now to enter the United States," she said. "I do not see. Let me go back to France and try to forget."

A sympathetic member of the Board of Special Inquiry asked if she could not earn her support here, suggesting the cold love of the professor might again be warmed. (The romance started in France when Professor Rowland was a soldier of the A. E. F.) To all such suggestions the girl could only give a refusal.

THOUGHT HIM CRAZY.
"Ah, if he had only faced me here and told me three things: if he had only been the brave man I believed him and frankly confessed a chance of heart, maybe then I might have forgiven him. Why did he say to me that he has never said to me?"

Miss Dullaire came on the parlor to a fortnight ago to be married to the teacher of languages and literature, whom she had met at the Grand Hotel, Paris, when he was convalescing. The French girl showed to immigration officials that she said the professor had written her, and a cablegram she had sent telling him she was "come to stay forever in America."

Professor Rowland, it appears, expressed a change of heart after meeting Miss Dullaire when the Paris dorked here. He wrote back to Greencastle and wrote to the Traveler, Ed Society, whose maintenance had been promised to expedite the wedding. This letter embodied the professor's reasons for not going with the girl.

COULDNT BEAR GREENCASTLE.
He said he had been astonished to hear her denounce American and American ways. She was bored by the new sight of New York, and he knew if she saw nothing in the American metropolis to admire, she in a mid-Western village town would be unbearable.

The professor further wrote he was surprised that the girl's parents had been so hard on her. He said he had been surprised that the girl's parents had been so hard on her. He said he had been surprised that the girl's parents had been so hard on her.

HAR RUM CHARGE.
Cleveland, Sept. 22.—Abraham Auerbach, former head of Auerbach & Co., manufacturers of hair tonics, was arrested at his home early today by police acting under orders of Assistant United States District Attorney Breitenstein and charged with violation of the national prohibition act.

At the same time, according to Federal officials, a warrant was out in New York for the arrest of Auerbach's brother Louis, his business associate, on a similar charge.

The arrest of Auerbach follows alleged alcohol manipulations through the hair tonic business, running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, according to Federal officials.

GLIDING EXPERT SLIGHTLY HURT.
Greensfeld, Germany, Sept. 22.—Edmund T. Allen, the American gliding expert, was slightly injured in a crash on Wednesday, only suffering injuries of a slight nature, according to reports.

Barter Replaces the Use of Money in Germany

Welm, Germany, Sept. 22.—Barter is replacing the use of money in various parts of Germany as a result of the serious depreciation of the mark.

The Weimar board governing the agricultural schools has fixed the tuition for the Winter term in rye instead of in money. Thuringians will pay one and one-half quarters (half-measures) for each kilowatt-hour of electricity consumed.

The Saxon Thuringian Power Company at Anna has announced that it will gladly receive, instead of cash, ten eggs, three pounds of wheat flour or a quarter of a centner of potatoes for each kilowatt-hour of electricity consumed.

SAILS ON MISSION TO LITHUANIA

Anthony Ivas, of South Boston, sails from New York tomorrow on the George Washington for Bremen. From there Mr. Ivas will proceed to Kovno, capital of Lithuania.

From which point he will establish in that country branch offices for the United States Line, operated by the Lithuanian Steamship Corporation, of which Mr. Ivas is president.

As a member of the Lithuanian League of America and the National Citizens' Association of America, political and national bodies, Mr. Ivas has been authorized to represent Lithuanian and American of Lithuanian descent.

Mr. Ivas took two American flags, one for the Lithuanian army, the other for the Fighting Order Skautai, which resembles our National Guard.

NEW MILK CARS;
NO ICE AND NO CANS

New York, Sept. 22.—A new type of railroad car for shipping milk in bulk, which eliminates cans and the use of milk cans, was demonstrated today to city officials who made a report on it to the municipal government. It has nine removable containers, each enclosing a vacuum tank of 800 gallons capacity. Milk is kept at the temperature at which it is bottled.

MATRON TELLS OF LAVOY GIRL SLAYING

Minneapolis, L. I., Sept. 22.—After twenty-one talesmen had been examined and William H. Seaman, a decorator, of Woodmont, L. I., chosen as the twelfth juror, the trial of William M. Cressy, on the charge of slaying Miss Edith Lavozy of Freeport, began with the prosecution's statement of the case.

Miss Edith Lavozy, sister of the victim, was the first witness. Attestor in deep mourning she whispered her testimony regarding identifications of the body. Following her on the stand came Mrs. Mildred Shelton, of Elizabeth, N. Y., formerly Miss Mildred Cressy, a chum of Edith Lavozy. She said she had often seen Miss Lavozy and Cressy together in the former's sitting room.

Cressy, who listened to her testimony and the scenes he received from the prosecution, showed no sign of emotion throughout the proceedings. He was heavily shaven and wore a blue suit, blue tie and blue silk socks.

AWAKENED BY SHOT.
Mrs. Shelton told the jury that on the night of the shooting she had been awakened by a pistol shot and that almost immediately Cressy had opened the door of the room in which she was sleeping and exclaimed:

"Oh, my God, Mildred, Edith has shot herself!"

"I sprang out of bed and found poor Edith on the sofa, with her left hand hanging over the edge of the sofa. Her face was partly toward the wall and her feet were drawn up under her as though she had been calmly sleeping in that position. Her night clothing was not disturbed at all."

The witness was questioned by Assistant Prosecution Attorney E. N. Edwards as to what Cressy had said and Mrs. Shelton replied that Cressy had exclaimed:

"Oh, my God, Mildred, how I loved you."

Mrs. Shelton had seized him by the arm and retorted:

"Well, it's a terrible thing to think of that now. Billy, why did you do it?"

He explained to the witness, she said, that he had been lying on the sofa beside Edith and that she had shot herself. He denied he had done the shooting. Mrs. Shelton left the room for three minutes to get a bath.

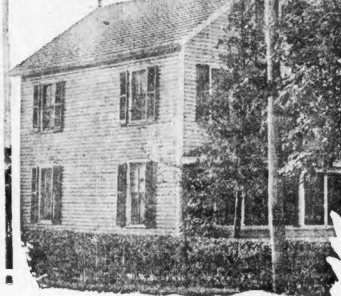

When she returned, she said, the position of the body had changed and was lying on the left side.

This testimony concerning the position of the body was given great importance because the State has

BATTLESHIPS IN MIMIC BATTLE WITH AIR FORCE

Washington, Sept. 22.—Preparations have been practically completed for the mimic battle to be staged off the Virginia coast next week between the battleship fleet and navy air forces in which problems will be worked out involving the use of scouting and torpedo planes against a modern fleet.

The fleet will be somewhere at sea off the Virginia coast. Scouting planes will leave the naval air station at Hampton Roads, searching for the battleships, and on finding them will report to the torpedo plane squadrons.

Torpedo planes, flying in squadron formation and each carrying a self-deploying torpedo, will then advance to the attack and launch their torpedoes and then swoop upward and away out of range of the guns on the battleships.

The maneuvers are expected by naval experts to demonstrate the utility of various types of aircraft in the attack on the battleships.

FIRE LOSS IN N. H.
NEARLY $8,000,000

Conestoga, N. H., Sept. 22.—An estimated $8,000,000 in real estate, claiming the week from October 3 to 5, the fire-prevention week in New Hampshire today, Governor Albert G. Brown declared that in Fry's the State's fire waste had amounted to $7,148,444, "a sum that would have built several thousand good homes and many miles of the best roads."

The late Mrs. Emma Watts Lewis of Brooklyn, who died in testate, left $25,000 in real estate and $60,000 personal property. The estate will be divided between her two sons, Charles W. and Samuel Lewis and a daughter, Carrie.

Watts, the son, Samuel, was appointed administrator and furnished a bond of $70,000.

Real estate and personal property aggregating $77,000 was left by the late Mrs. Harriet F. Jackson, who died intestate in Brooklyn.

The Norfolk Probate Court has appointed an administrator, George R. Nutter, who has filed a bond of $15,000. The property shared by Elizabeth and Annie H. Jackson, daughters, and Robert H. Jackson, a son.

The will of Lulu E. Frey of Milton was allowed. It was written in a foreign hand and translated in English. The testament was made while the testatrix was traveling in Japan. The property amounts to $1,100 and is left to relatives.

PULLMAN RATES NOT COMING DOWN

Washington, Sept. 22.—Pullman rates will not be reduced in the immediate future, Commerce Commission officials today declared.

The tentative report submitted to it today by Chief Examiner Robert E. Quirk, holding that present rates are reasonable. Complaint that the rates were too high was made to the commission by the order of United Commercial Travelers of America and kindred organizations. Quirk's report declared a reduction in rates unaccompanied by a corresponding reduction in operating expenses would "not only unduly impair the company's operating income, but would create a deficit."

PEACE TREATY RUG BROUGHT HOME

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 22.—A safe deposit box in a Los Angeles bank today held the famous 1500 Persian rug brought home over which the peace treaty at Versailles is said to have been signed.

The rug was brought to Los Angeles by its owner, Thomas H. Kull, from Washington, D. C. He is writing a history of it at the request of the State Department.

The rug is surrounded with legend and the old triangle of fate—two maidens in love with the same man. A kidnapping and romantic rescue are woven into the history of the masterpiece of Persian art.

Episcopal Bishops Call on Church to Back Up Dry Law

Portland, Ore., Sept. 22.—Obedience to the national prohibition law is urged in a resolution adopted by the House of Deputies of the Episcopal convention and sent to the House of Bishops for concurrence.

Condemnation of "mock marriages" and "Tom Thumb weddings" and a tilt over an amendment to the Book of Common Prayer, which was held by some bishops to allow the celebration of Mrs. Eddy's doctrine to creep into the church, also marked the session.

The prohibition resolution deplores "the growing tendency of the people to disregard the prohibition law," and urges the church to uphold this measure.
